IRINA ZAVYALOVA

Welcome to the world of Irina, the world of voluptuous women and bashful men, of birds carrying messages humans are never allowed to know, the world of colors, vision, beauty and awe.

Formally educated at one of the finest schools in Europe, Stieglitz Academy of Arts and Design in St. Petersburg, Russia.
Irina has come a long way since then.

International recognition came to her as she was invited to Shave International Artist Workshop in Somerset, England in 1994. That same year she was honored with the prestigious Delfina Studio Trust Award (London, England).

Since her arrival in this country in 1996 Irina has had numerous shows, won the Camden County Cultural and Heritage Commission Award in 1997, donated her works to the Markeim Arts Center in Haddonfield, NJ and kept painting.

As a token of appreciation for her painting for the Golden Book Cover Design Contest, five trees were planted in Israel's 50th Jubilee Forest.

Irina students' work can be seen annually at The National Arts Club and at www.irart.com/show
